

Cleveland (December 2005) – FUEL ON DEMAND ADDS TWO (2) LOCATIONS

Fuel on Demand™ LLC,

Announces the addition of two participating FBOs:

The I-X Jet Center (KCLE)

Located at Cleveland, OH Hopkins International Airport.

and

FirstAir (KADS)

Located at Addison, TX Regional Airport

Fuel on Demand™ debuted in November 2005 at the National Business Aircraft Association (NBAA) convention as the first national program to offer Jet-A fuel for business aircraft at “cost plus 25¢” pricing, with no minimum or maximum purchase. Program participants pay a lower and more predictable fuel price compared with traditional volume based programs. Additionally, the program waives fees typically charged by FBOs for additional service such as ramp or facility fees.

Fuel on Demand customers are charged an access fee indexed to aircraft category and purchase frequency. Fuel is priced by the participating FBO at inventory cost plus 25¢ per gallon into-plane fee, plus taxes, flowage and credit card transaction fee. FOD customers realize a typical fuel savings of $2.00 per gallon off retail. Programs are available via annual contract or 12 visit pre-paid card.

Richard Michaels, FOD head of marketing states: “Volume discounts typically are disguised in high retail pricing. With Fuel on Demand, consistent, low-cost fuel is available at any quantity. There’s no price volatility due to markup, no consumer gouging, nor the need for our customers to continuously search for the lowest price. With FOD, savings is exponential!”

I-X Jet Center and FirstAir become the 22nd & 23rd Fuel on Demand locations. Other participating locations can be found on www.fuelondemand.com and include all Corporate Wings and Mercury Air Center FBOs.
